Federal Signal is pleased to expand our siren offerings with the release of the all-new PA300-100. The PA300-100 is a compact, programmable siren available with self-contained controls. This easy-to-install siren incorporates Convergence Network Configuration Software to provide a high level of customizable control capability. Convergence Network Configuration Software is available as a download from the Federal Signal website, making it easy to program one vehicle – or an entire fleet – from your laptop.

The PA300-100 control faceplate includes a seven-position rotary switch, volume control, speaker diagnostics, and two backlit buttons that can be programmed for various functions, including press-on, press-off, momentary, and blinking. These buttons also have adjustable brightness levels and can be dimmed or turned off for stealthy operation. Additionally, they can be programmed to emit red or blue light through the Convergence Network Configuration Software.

PA300-100 also includes two serial ports to be used with FS Convergence Network devices, such as light bars or directional warning lights, for easy “plug-and-play” installation. Other features include horn ring transfer, public address with included microphone, and radio rebroadcast.
